5	Paul Evans and Keith Farley went down in early January 2003 to view the engine al Ellerslie near Exeter. The engine was in a dismantled state stored in an open fronted barn and suffering from some weathering. The main bed was on a partially collapsed farm trailer and parts were to be found all over the site.	2003-01-10
5	The engine and all main parts were removed from site and taken to Wheelers Transport at Bridgewater for storage before moving to Wales.	2003-03-10
5	The engine arrived at the museum and the block was placed onto the prepared bed in Power hall 3	2003-03-22
5	The engine was sold to a private collector in March 2013 to raise funds for the museum. The engine will remain on display at the museum.	2013-04-14
